

Captain Feasible would rather his nemesis wasn't a dog called Fifi.

Perhaps it's time for something different?

Featured Positions

Inprotech Evangelist, London £40,000

This role transcends the average IT or systems job, offering considerable scope for a capable Inprotech specialist within a modern private practice. You'll give training, implement updates, and adjust Inprotech rules/workflows to best suit the firm's needs and work environment. You'll interact with everyone from partners and attorneys to accounts staff and get a lot of input in how the system is set up and used.

Electronics Partner, Partner Designate or Senior Associate, London

£Highly Competitive

London based firm seeks Partner or someone wanting better partnership prospects. Inherit a well-established client portfolio, experience an innovative business structure and plenty of management opportunities. The firm has an extensive business development strategy and encourage overseas trips. Portfolio provides a healthy balance of direct clients and associate work.

Other Opportunities:

Qualified/Associate Level, Trade Mark Attorney, London £Fantastic

Fill a hierarchy gap in a firm with plenty of trainees but few Trade Mark Attorneys at Associate level. Enjoy an existing workload, the opportunity to be involved in staff training, and develop your marketing abilities. Attorneys are encouraged to use initiative and build a client base of their own. Be at the centre of a developing practice and contribute to the evolution of the London office.

Electronics Patent Attorney, Partner or Partner Designate, South Yorkshire - £Excellent

Step into an established workload, including a high proportion of direct clients, and enhance it by building something of your own. Suitable Attorneys will have a technical background in electronics with at least some telecoms experience. The role would suit an aspiring Partner, or someone who is an existing Partner with another firm seeking better long term options.

Trade Mark Partner, London - £Six Figures

Leading firm with unique commercial strategy wishes to recruit a new Partner. The firm's partnership scheme ensures progression beyond the lower rungs of the ladder, and gives everyone the opportunity to be involved in the running of the firm. Arguably, this structurally supported partner engagement contributes heavily to the firm's continuing success. The existing – diverse! – portfolio will ideally be supplemented by some contacts of your own.

Chemistry Patent Attorney, Qualified, London

This excellent firm is recruiting a chemist to complement their team. You will have a pile of existing work as well as the freedom to build your own. The firm is highly recognised, has a good strategy for gaining new work and is very well run. Their need is due to growth (not replacing a leaver), so the future certainly looks promising!

Electronics, Part Qualified/Qualified, London £40,000 (PQ) to 75,000 (Q)

Highly regarded private practice in central London with an emphasis on excellence in everything they do hiring an electronics patent attorney. Friendly team with excellent support and training facilities. Some of the most intriguing clients around.

Part Qualified Patent Attorney, Electronics, London To £40,000 + Bonus

This firm couldn't be more desirable. It's not too big, but not too small either, its thinking is entirely modern, and everyone walks around with a smile. And the work is equally perfect for an electronics buff: historically an electronics practice, this firm will put you in front of some of the most cutting-edge clients you could wish for.

Patent Attorney, Part Qualified, Electronics, London £35-40,000

This firm takes a genuine interest in training their people, and isn't afraid to show it. You'll be exposed to a variety of work and enjoy responsibilities from the get go, but be supported by experienced teammates to ensure you'll get the most out of the learning experience. With the diverse client base you'll be getting lots of face-time with sole inventors and in-house R&D alike.

Biotechnology, Qualified, Manchester

Come and join this growing office of a global IP firm in Manchester! You'll get along great with their pleasant team of attorneys, and find that the work is of the same top quality you'd expect to see at the London office. There'll be lots of work to dig into straight away – you'll meet some very interesting clients, but the firm will be happy for you to go out and develop some more if you're that way inclined!

Electronics, Qualified Patent Attorney, Manchester

This firm has been a resounding success story throughout the recession. They have been expanding their Manchester office and would love to welcome a new qualified electronics attorney to complement their team. Great benefits, work environment, and future options down the line!

Qualified Trade Mark Attorneys, All Levels, Leeds, Manchester and Glasgow

Trade Mark departments across the country are rapidly expanding and many are now looking to hire qualified attorneys at various levels of seniority. This recent growth promises a lot of opportunities for career progression in the future, so now is a great time to make a move. Sink your teeth into exciting cases, work with top notch clients, and reap the (career) rewards!

Other Opportunities:

Biotechnology, Qualified Patent Attorney, London - £80,000

A biotechnology role for a qualified CPA/EPA. This private practice is one of the more laid-back employers on the market, with a track record of making flexible working arrangements to accommodate staff. Don't be fooled though, the quality of their work is first rate, as evidenced by their assortment of clients.

Part Qualified/Qualified Patent Attorney, Engineering, South Yorkshire

If engineering is your passion, this is the job for you. You'll be dealing hands-on with some great clients and their equally great products. No matter what level of qualification you are, there will be a place for you in this team and you'll get as much (or as little) support as you need. Based in a regional office of a large private practice, this position will give you a lot of room for growth.

Partner or Partner Designate, Electronics, South Yorkshire

Super opportunity for an aspiring Partner or an existing Partner to benefit from the expertise of some truly excellent colleagues and work with cutting edge technology. The role offers a democratic environment that will ensure you are listened to and that you can have strategic influence on the direction of your department.

Glasgow, Partner or Partner Designate, Electronics

Fantastic chance for an Attorney to help develop the Glasgow office of a leading firm. You will be a keen business builder but would be seeking a position where your practice growth ambitions are ably supported. Whilst you will be highly technical proficient, you will also enjoy creating something of your own and therefore enjoying the autonomy required to do so. This will be a highly visible role within the firm, giving a much greater chance of quick career progression.
